

Please leave XM radio alone. It's about time people in their cars can listen to some quality programming without being bombarded with commercials and ignorant morning crews. The whole reason I switched to XM was because I spend over an hour each way to work in the car and most days had the scan function on the regular FM radio the whole way without ever finding anything worth listening to. Now that XM offers instant traffic I can know within a minute or two of any problems. I can adjust my route much quicker than I ever could before listening and waiting for traffic on regular broadcasts! This can save me hours a week because I can react before I get stuck in traffic. If regular broadcasters really had anything good to offer they wouldn't have a problem now because XM would not have become so popular so quickly. If XM were to dissapear completely I would not listen to regular broadcasters. Because of this action by the NAB I am going to urge all of my friends and relatives to sign up for XM and boycott regular broadcasters.

Thanks for your time

Mike Srock